DETAILED ACTION

An examination of this application reveals that applicant is unfamiliar with patent prosecution procedure. While an inventor may prosecute the application, lack of skill in this field usually acts as a liability in affording the maximum protection for the invention disclosed. Applicant is advised to secure the services of a registered patent attorney or agent to prosecute the application, since the value of a patent is largely dependent upon skilled preparation and prosecution. The Office cannot aid in selecting an attorney or agent.

Applicant is advised of the availability of the publication "Attorneys and Agents Registered to Practice Before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office." This publication is for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 4-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 4, the following recitations appear to lack clear positive antecedent basis: "the intake port," "the bottom," "the discharge port," "the downstream side," "the reservoir water level," "the discharge water," "the connecting conduit," "the piping downstream," "the end of the discharge port" and "the discharging sediments." In claim 5, the recitation "the task" appears to lack clear positive antecedent basis. Moreover, it is unclear what Applicant intends by "the task." In claim 6, the following recitations appear to lack clear positive antecedent basis: "the conduit intake end," "the dredge assembly," "the dam wall," "the entrained sediments," and "the dam downstream side." In claim 7, the recitation "the common drive shaft" appears to lack clear positive antecedent basis.

In claim 4, the following recitations are considered vague and indefinite because of their subjective and/or relative nature which enables numerous possible interpretations: "convenient" and "strong;" in claim 5: "high;" and in claim 6: "convenient" and "strong."

In claim 4-7, it is unclear whether Applicant intends to recite/claim a dam or a reservoir, or both. Applicant introduces these terms in the alternative, and then goes on to make specific reference to each of them.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Thompson (4,264,105).

Claim 4 specifies that the connecting conduit passes through the dam wall "below the reservoir water level." Thompson discloses a siphon dredge mining system employing a connecting conduit that passes through dam wall 54, however, in Figure 1, the illustrated connecting conduit is not "below the reservoir water level." The connecting conduit does pass through the dam wall 54, at a point beneath the top of the dam wall, and therefore, could be "below the reservoir water level," thus meeting the limitations of the claim. Alternatively, it is submitted that it would have been obvious to locate the conduit at a point "below the reservoir water level," or to raise the water level in the dam. Water levels in dams are routinely manipulated based on demand and rainfall. Likewise, as is shown by several of the cited references, it is well known in the art to locate conduits through dam walls at points below the water level.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 6-7 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 4-7 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Regarding the previous application of the Thompson reference, Applicant has argued: "Thompson's system is only applicable to reservoirs at high altitude or a side of the reservoir has a steep drop." This argument is ineffective at negating the application of the Thompson reference, since it fails to state how the language of Applicant's claims patentably defines over this reference.

Applicant is referred to MPEP Section 714.02, and reminded of a proper response:

(b) In order to be entitled to reconsideration or further examination, the applicant or patent owner must reply to the Office action. The reply by the applicant or patent owner must be reduced to a writing which distinctly and specifically points out the supposed errors in the examiner's action and must reply to every ground of objection and rejection in the prior Office action. The reply must present arguments pointing out the specific distinctions believed to render the claims, including any newly presented claims, patentable over any applied references. If the reply is with respect to an application, a request may be made that objections or requirements as to form not necessary to further consideration of the claims be held in abeyance until allowable subject matter is indicated.

The applicant's or patent owner's reply must appear throughout to be a bona fide attempt to advance the application or the reexamination proceeding to final action. A general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references does not comply with the requirements of this section.

(c) In amending in reply to a rejection of claims in an application or patent under reexamination, the applicant or patent owner must clearly point out the patentable novelty which he or she thinks the claims present in view of the state of the art disclosed by the references cited or the objections made. The applicant or patent owner must also show how the amendments avoid such references or objections.

Conclusion

This action is a final rejection and is intended to close the prosecution of this application. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new grounds of rejection.

Applicant's reply under 37 CFR 1.113 to this action is limited either to an appeal to the

Art Unit: 1724

Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or to an amendment complying with the requirements set forth below.

If applicant should desire to appeal any rejection made by the examiner, a Notice of Appeal must be filed within the period for reply identifying the rejected claim or claims appealed. The Notice of Appeal must be accompanied by the required appeal fee.

If applicant should desire to file an amendment, entry of a proposed amendment after final rejection cannot be made as a matter of right unless it merely cancels claims or complies with a formal requirement made earlier. Amendments touching the merits of the application which otherwise might not be proper may be admitted upon a showing a good and sufficient reasons why they are necessary and why they were not presented earlier.

A reply under 37 CFR 1.113 to a final rejection must include the appeal from, or cancellation of, each rejected claim. The filing of an amendment after final rejection, whether or not it is entered, does not stop the running of the statutory period for reply to the final rejection unless the examiner holds the claims to be in condition for allowance. Accordingly, if a Notice of Appeal has not been filed properly within the period for reply, or any extension of this period obtained under either 37 CFR 1.136(a) or (b), the application will become abandoned.
